MYSTERIOUS HANGING OF TWO BOYS PROVES PUZZLE TO CHICAGO POLICE

Chicago, Oct. 7.—The mysterious death by hanging of two 14-year-old boys in less than a week today offered the authorities one of the most puzzling problems they have faced for months.

Last Sunday the body of Samuel Buffington was found hanging in a closet of his home, the hands tied behind his back. Authorities today were still undecided whether it was a case of suicide, accidental strangulation or a possible murder.

Last night the body of Edward Knauf was found hanging in the basement of his home. One end of a rope around his waist was passed through a ceiling hook and the other end fashioned into a noose was about his neck. The case are nearly identical.

The Buffington youth was an expert in knot-tying, the Knauf boy almost daily playing with ropes. In neither case, so far as can be learned, was there a motive for suicide.

LAYER'S GUILTY CONSCIENCE WAS CAUSE OF DOWNFALL, SAYS CHIEF

Chris Martineson Describes Events Which Led Him To Fasten Suspicion on Slayer of Wolf Family

"Henry Layer's guilty conscience was his downfall," said Chief of Police Chris Martineson, of Bismarck, on hearing of the denial of a trial for the slayer of the Wolf family near Turtle Lake.

Chief Martineson described the events leading up to the arrest of Layer and his subsequent confession.

"The first lead in the case came from Layer himself," said Martineson, who is given credit by other officers for the Layer arrest and confession. "It was at the Wolf farm after the murder. Layer was roasting Wolf, declaring Wolf's dogs killed one of his cows and that Wolf deserved to be killed."

The chief then kept close watch on Layer.

He called him into the coroner's inquest, and Layer shielded his eyes when he was led toward the bodies, Martineson said.

Layer First to Speak

"It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon when Layer came to me and said: 'You think I killed the Wolf family?' I had told no one other than officers of my suspicion. Layer could not tell me who told him.

"When they were laying out the bodies Layer was the only man who refused to help. He stood back of the crowd at the funeral.

"We slipped away from the funeral and visited his home. His little girl said her papa and mama told her not to talk about the Wolf case because there had been trouble between the families. The second time we were back there she wouldn't say anything and the third time they had her hidden away in the attic.

"Later at the Wolf farm Layer said he was going in the barn to hunt eggs. He came came with three empty shells, which the rest of us had tried to find in the haymow and couldn't. He knew where they were.

"After Layer was brought down here and his relatives began to say he might not be guilty we went up and checked up on the evidence and never found any flaw," said the chief.

No Third Degree Used

Denial was made that Layer was victim of the "third degree." "We talked to him from about 8 o'clock at night until midnight," said Martineson. "Before that he had paced the cell. After he confessed he, slept soundly."

Among the officers active in the case where Sheriff Stefferud, McLean county; Sheriff Welch, of Burleigh county; Detectives Hessenger and McDowell and Chief Martineson. Sheriff Welch today gave Chief Martineson credit.

Sheriff Welch also declared his firm conviction in Layer's guilt today. Chief Martineson, he said, was the first officer to "spot" Layer and declare he was the man who killed the

NEW TAX BILL IS PRESENTED IN U. S. SENATE

Measure is Radically Changed, but Penrose Sees Hope for Early Vote

Washington, Oct. 7.—Majority members of the senate finance committee were faced today with the task of virtually rewriting the major sections of the tax revision bill reported more than two weeks ago.

Some details of the compromise revision plan tentatively agreed upon by Republican leaders remained to be worked out but Senator Penrose in charge of the tax measure, predicted that the "perfected" bill would be passed next week. Other leaders were less optimistic, however, believing that the fight to come over the sales tax, repeal of the excess profits tax and some other provisions would prevent final action within that time.

Those sponsoring the revised program counted upon it not only to bridge the gap the original bill caused in the Republican ranks but also to draw some support from the minority side.

PROPOSE TAX

Washington, Oct. 7—A tax of $4 a gallon on all alcohol withdrawn from bond for industrial, medical or any other purpose has been agreed upon by Republican leaders as a part of the new revision program. This is an increase of $1.86 a gallon and is expected to yield $75,000,000 additional revenue each year.

The proposal to repeal the $20,000 exemption allowed corporations was abandoned on the ground that it would work too great a hardship on the small corporations. The leaders also were said to have decided on a flat corporation income tax of 15 per cent in place of a 10 and 15 per cent rate.

ADVANCES MONEY TO INSTITUTIONS

The Bank of North Dakota has advanced $23,000 to the state agricultural college and state university to enable them to meet current payrolls and bills, it was announced at the state board of administration.

This was done, it was said, because the state general fund, through lack of payment of taxes, is about exhausted.

FRANCE AND GERMANY IN AGREEMENT ON PAYMENT OF 7 BILLION GOLD MARKS

Paris, Oct. 7.—France is insured reparation payments and Germany is given a means to avoid possible bankruptcy through the agreement signed yesterday at Weisbaden by Louis Loucheur, French minister of liberated regions, and Dr. Walter Rathenau, German minister of reconstruction. The agreement is regarded as of some importance and will permit Germany to pay the equivalent of seven billion gold marks in the next five years. First reports indicated that the agreement would run but three years but it was found upon examination of the pact that it does not expire before May 1, 1926.

LAYER, SLAYER OF 8 PERSONS, DENIED TRIAL

Supreme Court Acts Upon Case of Man Sentenced for Turtle Lake Killings

FINDS NO THIRD DEGREE

Supreme Court Says That There is no Evidence Layer Confessed Under Duress

Henry Layer, when told this noon by the deputy warden of the supreme court's action, said:

"I can't understand what's the matter with those fellows. If there ever was an innocent man I am."

Layer betrayed no strong emotion beyond this exclamation.

He now is working in the prison laundry and is said by prison officials to be in good health.

Henry Layer, serving a life term in the state prison for the murder of eight persons near Turtle Lake, must continue to serve.

The supreme court, in an unanimous decision handed down last evening, refused to grant Layer a trial by jury. Under a law of the last legislature a person serving a life sentence for murder cannot be paroled or pardoned before one-half of his life expectancy has passed unless he is found innocent.

The decision of the court closes the Layer case, one of the most brutal murder cases in North Dakota's history, it is believed. Layer had appealed to the supreme court on the ground that he confessed under duress, third degree methods being used, and that mob violence was threatened.

The court's decision said: "An examination of the record discloses that no duress, coercion, or intimidation was exercised in procuring the confession, nor was such used towards him to procure his plea of guilty to the crime charged in the information and for these and other reasons stated in the opinion, it is held that the court did not err in denying the defendant's motion for a new trial. The appeal to the supreme court was taken from Judge Nuessle's decision.

Layer Arrested.

Layer was arrested a few weeks after Jacob Wolf, his wife, five children and a chore boy were found murdered near Turtle Lake in April, 1920. Layer confessed in the jail at Washburn, was taken before Judge Nuessle, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Sometime afterwards stories were circulated that Layer had pleaded guilty through fear and relatives employed counsel to take up the case. Officers who had obtained his confession also went over the case to see if they could discover any loopholes. In the action brought in district court attorneys for Layer stressed the finding of an old mask and a shotgun shell on the farm as new evidence. They maintained that Layer could not, as he confessed, killed the entire family with shotguns.

The quarrel which led to the fatal shooting is said to have originated over the grazing of cows.

TEXANS START OUT TO LYNCH NEGRO IN JAIL

Travel From Ft. Worth to Dallas and Then Disband Without Action

Dallas, Tex. Oct. 7.—Twenty-five motor carloads of men, said to have come here from Fort Worth for the purpose of lynching David Bunn, a negro, accused of having robbed and mistreated members of a house party at Lake Worth, a pleasure resort near Fort Worth Tuesday night, arrived here early today. Bunn was brought here for safe-keeping.

The crowd of men disbanded shortly after its arrival. It was understood the members had gone back to Fort Worth.

No concerted effort was made to obtain Bunn. Little excitement attended the coming of the party from Fort Worth.

SEN. M'CUMBER OPPOSES BREAKDOWN OF PARTY LINES; LADD, CONGRESSMEN STATE POSITION ON THE RECALL

LADD, SINCLAIR OPPOSE RECALL WHILE YOUNG, BURTNESS ARE BACKING NESTOS

United States Senator and Congressmen State Positions in Answer to Call to Give Their Views Upon State Political Affairs in the Present Campaign

Senator E. F. Ladd, elected with Nonpartisan endorsement, and Representative Sinclair, of the Third district, also elected with Nonpartisan endorsement give their views on the recall, in opposition to it, in statements carried below, while Representative O. B. Burtness and Representative George Young, elected with Independent endorsement, oppose the recall. Following a statement of the Independent headquarters calling on all senators and congressmen to make public their recall stand and similar demand from Nonpartisans, The Tribune asked the North Dakota men in the national congress to state their positions. The symposium follows:

Sinclair Opposes Recall

Rep. J. H. Sinclair, of the Third district, did not reply to a communicaton addressed to him, but in a telegram made public he gave his views on the recall as follows:

"I am much opposed to the recall election and consider it unjustifiable. The farmers are satisfied with their officers elected last year and will repudiate the politicians and monied interests that are backing the recall. Frazier, Lemke and Hagan are the most faithful and efficient public servants the state ever had. They will be triumphantly returned to office by a grateful people."

Senator Ladd's Statement

Senator Ladd, writing on the proposed initiative laws, says:

"In my judgment this provision for an initiative law to abolish all parties is not designed or intended to benefit the people of the State but if successful would bring chaos and help to organize gang rule. It would prevent the formation and development of new parties. It would now exclude from the ticket the prohibitionist, the Bull Moose, the Socialist and the farm

Young's Position

Congressman George M. Young announced his unqualified support of Nestos for governor at the recall election in a statement handed to the press today. He said:

"I have great confidence in the integrity and ability of R. A. Nestos, a man of long experience in public affairs, mature judgment and known courage. If we can secure his election as Governor, which I firmly believe can be done, there will be ushered in not only a new day but a better day for the people of North Dakota."

"As to the proposed election laws I shall withhold judgment until I have had an opportunity to examine them."

Burtness' Statement

Congressman O. B. Burtness, of Grand Forks, of the First district, writes:

I have your favor of August 31st asking for a statement of my opinion regarding the proposed law initiated by petition providing for the election of state officers and legislators on a non-party basis. The answer can perhaps be best made by simply re-

KOSITZKY ON FIRING LINE

Carl R. Kositzky, former state auditor, is back in the political firing line.

BADLY INJURED WHEN SPEEDER TURNS TURTLE

Adolph Kuthera Taken to Hospital Here Suffering From Severe Injuries

Adolph Kuthera, an employe of the Bismarck Foundry, is in St. Alexius hospital suffering from serious injuries as a result of an accident which happened late yesterday afternoon when he was testing a speeder on the Soo line.

Kuthera and Zink Cavalney were riding on the speeder, about a mile from the city. The speeder, a small gasoline-propelled car, turned over, and Kuthera was pinned under it.

Cavalney escaped serious injuries but Kuthera was taken to the hospital suffering from severe injuries to his back, a broken finger on the right hand and a gash in his head. His tongue was bitten off. It was feared his back had been broken.

The cause of the accident was not obtainable.

San Francisco, Oct. 7.—Arraignment of Roscoe C. Arbuckle, on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe is on today's calendar in the court. Arbuckle left Los Angeles for this city last night.

When the case was called Monday postponement until today was granted at request of defense counsel.

SUPPORT YOUR HOME TEAM

Boost for the Bismarck High School football team.

The boys deserve the financial support as well as the moral encouragement which comes from the attendance at games.

There is a drive on to sell 600 season tickets at $1.50 for the whole schedule of games. The citizens should buy these and go to the games. From all reports Bismarck has a good team, but it will be much better if the fans get behind it and boost.

Get into the game with your financial support, and, what is just as necessary, go to the field and root for the home team.

Republican Party Nationally Can Be Perpetuated Only Through State Organization

MINORITY MIGHT PREVAIL

Says That Without State Organization Control Might Be Wrested From Dominant Party

United States Senator Porter J. McCumber, senior senator from North Dakota, is opposed to the initiated laws submitted to the voters at the re-recall election which would provide for election of state officials from governor on down by nonpartisan ballot. Senator McCumber, in response to a request for his views on the subject, which have engrossed the attention particularly of the members of the Republican party, says that state party organization is necessary to the welfare of the national party organization and that "it is easy to see that the national organization can only be perpetuated by keeping an active Republican organization in the state itself."

Senator McCumber's statement follows:

"I am just in receipt of your favor of the 31st ultimo requesting a short statement of my opinion concerning the propriety of abolishing party lines in our election of state officers.

"In my opinion this would be a most grave mistake. Imagine an American Congress composed of members, each and all of whom had been elected independently of and uninfluenced by any party principles, and what would result. Before that Congress had been in session thirty days it would crystalize into well defined groups, each group representing a particular set of principles or purposes. These groups might be three or four, or five, or more. In other words legislation would result from the dominant organization putting through its measures either independently of all the others, or in conjunction or combination with one or more of them. Legislation would still be the result of party organization.

"Without such organization legislation would be spasmodic and unrelated. It is just as idle to talk of conducting a government without organized effort or put into force great governmental policies and principles as it would be to talk of maintaining a living and successful church without a creed or set of guiding principles to lead and inspire its members.

Need Organized Membership.

"We not only must have the principles to guide our course but we must have the organized political party or organized membership of the church to effectuate our purposes.

"Political organizations mean that every condition, industrial and otherwise, affecting the welfare of the country will be considered. The policy to be advocated by each party to best fulfill the national aspiration for peace and prosperity can be presented through this organization to the people for their approval or rejection.

"It is only in this way that the voter will know just what his ballot will mean. He not only wants to select a reasonably good man to represent him, but he also wants to know what that man stands for. There are splendid men in the ranks of each party but their views may be as dissimilar as black and white.

"This voter not only is entitled to know what his representative will stand for, but also that he will have with him an organized party that will assure to a reasonable degree that the remedy which he seeks to apply to any governmental evil will be put into effect.

"On the other hand people who believe in certain specified political doctrines can, through organization, place such doctrines and policies before the public for its approval. These things cannot be done unless political organization is in existence with its promulgated doctrines before the election.

Chaos Without Party.

"Without party lines and party organization we would have a condition of chaos, not only in our legislative halls but throughout the country. No line of business could forecast what shape future legislation might take. We need this organization to guide the Ship of State as much as we need a North Star or a compass to guide a vessel's course into the port of its destination.

"Every stable and well governed nation of the world is conducted through political organizations. The watchfulness of each political party compels the other at all times to strive for the best possible results. It must do this to insure its own supremacy. It is through this everlasting vigilance and the whip of organized criticism that will always come the greatest good to the greatest number.

"Every line of human history, as well as every element of philosophy speaks the necessity for a government by and through political organization.

"These reasons apply with equal force to the politics of a state. As no government can be run on a stable and certain course except through policies adopted and put into effect through party organization, the destruction of such organization would result in the same injury, whether the destructive blow be struck by federal or state law.

This being a government of and by the people, the power which adopts a policy is the voting power in the state

UNITED STATES ASKED TO HELP WORLD FINANCE

International Chamber of Commerce Calls Upon Nation to Lend a Hand

TO RELIEVE IDLENESS

Paris, Oct. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The United States is called upon to join with the allied powers in plans to solve all the problems growing out of reparations and payment of the allied debt in a resolution adopted unanimously by the council of the international chamber of commerce which met here today.

The resolution was recommended by the special finance committee appointed last June at the annual Congress of the international chamber in London in which the United States was represented.

The resolution points out that the members of the American delegation to the international chamber had drawn the attention of the council to the fact that the financial and industrial position of the world at large was arousing increasing attention in the United States and that there was a strong indication of a policy of greater participation by the United States.

Such participation, the resolution continues, is made more apparent and necessary by the present industrial situation in the United States. The resolution concludes by saying it is vital for the United States to do its share to relieve the situation.

Payment of the allied debt to the United States should not be the subject of any definite conclusion until after the coming Washington conference, according to the members of the council and a special financial committee.

SPY SYSTEM IS CONDEMNED BY CHURCH REPORT

Supplementary Document is Made Public by Interchurch World Movement

DEFENDS FIRST REPORT

New York Oct 6—The commission of inquiry of the Interchurch World Movement made public a supplementary report on the steel strike of 1919 describing the alleged use of "undercover men or spies by the steeel corporations and detailing its dealings and efforts toward mediation with the United States Steel Corporation

Hundreds of original documents are quoted in the report on "under-cover men in the steel strike," which declares that "wide-spread systems of espionage are an integral part of the anti-union policy of great industrial corporations."

"Industrial spionage is confined to America,' says the report "What espionage there is in Europe is a government monopoly; no other civilized country tolerates large scale, privately-owned labor spying"

The spy hired by the steel companies, says the commission, worked like a workman, talked like a workman, whispered depressing rumors, stirred up racial spite, and argued failure to the strikers and 'even in his daily-mailed spy-reports he advises not so much 'sluggers as influence' by municipal authorites to close up public meeting places."

The report also traces the alleged practice of industrial espionage against the commission and the Interchurch movement from November, 1919, to the summer of 1920. The report of an unnamed "under-cover man" who pursued the Commission's investigators in Pittsburgh and inspected the Interchurch offices in New York, designated as Document A, is given in full It was sent to the offices of the United States Steel Corporation, it is stated, and was dated two days after the Commission's first interview with E H. Gary, chairman of the Corporation. The "anonymous" report called the investigators "members of the I. W. W. and Reds."

Two other "spy reports" against the Interchurch were detailed, one of which described as Document B, was alleged to have been mailed by Ralph M Easley, of the National Civic Federation, to the offices of the United States Steel Corporation on March 29, 1920, with a letter requesting that the clergymen reported in it be "kicked out of their positions."

Mr. Easley's letter gave as his reason for sending the report on men in the "Interchurch World Movement, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ and Y M. C. A.," the fact that "at this time they are proposing to raise hundreds of millions of dollars for this work" The Commission said that "none of the men spied on by his agent had anything to do with the Interchurch steel report."

RAIL LEADERS ARE UNCERTAIN

Evidence of Disagreement Over Strike Ballot Seen

Chicago Oct 6—While the counting of the strike ballots of four railroad brotherhoods was continuing here today there was some evidence of disagreement among the union leaders themselves regarding the probability of a strike in case the men favored a walkout.

The strike vote of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen, Order of Railroad Conductors and the Switchmen's Union of North America, will not be known before the last of the week.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Federated Shop Crafts have already voted to strike

OLD LANDMARK DISAPPEARS IN BIG FLOOD

San Antonio Tex. Oct. 6—Among old land marks which disappeared partially with the recent flood here, was the "Quinta" better known as the first post office on Dwyer avenue in this city It was built some 160 years ago, and ranked with the Alamo in claim to more historic events in the city's past.

The structure was stone. It stood on the bank of the river just across the street from the court house About a year ago it was condemned to be razed to make room for widening Dwyer avenue but before the order was carried out the flood started the removal. The foundation crumpled and one end and side of the building is a mass of ruins.

Deeds show the "Quinta" was built in 1761. In 1814 it was confiscated by a Spanish general who had sacked the outpost and was used as a prison for more than 600 American women and girls who were forced to grind corn and perform other labor.

It next entered the limelight of Texas history when it was selected as the first postoffice for San Antonio, about 1849. Then is was the property of John Bowen, the first postmaster It remained in the family since For the past few years it was the home of several Mexican families and one or two small business enterprises The slots cut in the massive doors in which to drop letters remained until the last

INDIAN WAR HERO FOUND WORKING ON LITTLE FARM ALMOST FORGOTTEN

Idabel, Okla., Oct 6—On a small farm in McCurtain County, 35 miles over rough roads from Idabel, Joseph Oklahombi, a Choctaw Indian, is hunting and fishing, raising corn and helping his neighbors at harvest time.

A half-dozen persons in Idabel, could be found who remembered exactly what part Oklahombi played in the world war—yet it was he who captured 171 German prisoners single handed, and was decorated and cited by Marshal Petain of France as the second greatest American hero that the war produced. Alvin York was ranked first.

Oklahombi, however, when questioned by Mrs. C. C. Conlan, of the Oklahoma Historical Society, who also is a Choctaw, saw nothing peculiar in this lack of recognition, he said. He did only his duty, he added, and is now back home with his wife and baby—carrying on as his forefathers carried on. Oklahombi is a full blood.

His name taken from the Choctaw, means in their language "man killer," according to an interpreter. It is not directly connected with the name Oklahoma, presented to the state, which is a combination of two Choctaw words.

Oklahombi was enrolled in Company D, 141st Infantry, 26th Division as a private, 26 years old. When he enlisted he could not speak English; but that he could speak the language of warfare in fighting for his country is evidenced by the wording of the citation from General Petain, after which he received the Croix de Guerre.

"DAY OF FAITH" IS PROCLAIMED FOR ARKANSAS

Governor Calls Upon People to Pray for Success of Disarm Parley

Little Rock Ark., Oct 6—Governor Thomas C McRae has proclaimed Tuesday, November 1, a legal holiday to be known as "The Day of Faith" and enjoined the citizens of this state to offer prayer then for the success of the conference on the limitation of armaments to be held in Washington on Armistice Day.

The governor asks the people of Arkansas also on November 1 "to acknowledge the rights and virtues of their neighbor, whatsoever be his nation, his race or his creed and as evidence of that faith which is within them, at the hour of noon on such Day of Faith, reverently to speak the allegorical words, 'My neighbor is perfect.'"

The governor expressed in his proclamation the hope that where Arkansas dares to lead the world may not fear to follow.

Governor McRae explained in his proclamation that he had been moved to this step by reading a book by Arthur Somers Roche. Speaking of the conference on the limitation of armaments, the governor said:

"Once more the peoples of the world thrill to an ancient hope. This time idealism must not fail.

"Creed and hatred in the daily affairs of man, in his industrial order and in his international relations, have brought about a collapse in civilization which testifies to man's inability to check material maladies with material remedies.

"Shall we travel eternally the vicious circle that, beginning in preparation ends in war, to begin again in new preparation?

"We are taught that man is made in the image of his Maker; yet, even as the heart accepts that mighty truth, the brain whispers to the hand the false word, 'impracticable,' and the sword flashes from the ready sheath.

"Civilization, warned by experience, must not again challenge hate with only the puny powers of the hand and brain! It must turn to the human heart! We must have faith!

"But shall we keep faith locked in the heart, as though we were ashamed of it? Shall we not rather in this frightful crisis of the world's history, release it and let the heart attempt what the brain and hand have failed to achieve—the rule of Peace?"

Studebaker
LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR NOW $1150

This is a Studebaker Year

The car that is converting thousands to the SIX

The popularity of the six-cylinder automobile is universal. Everyone admits that there is great pleasure in driving a Six, and the six-cylinder motor is now recognized as the most satisfactory unit of power.

The Studebaker LIGHT-SIX motor embodies the most advanced engineering developments—

—it is powerful. Its 40-horsepower motor supplies much more than the usual power per pound of car weight.

From the first moment you sit behind the wheel you get that velvety feeling of a strong, continuous flow of overlapping power impulses.

—it picks up quickly and smoothly, affording a quick getaway in traffic; it throttles down to a snail's pace in high gear.

—it is freer from vibration, up to 55 miles per hour, than any car of its size and weight yet produced in Europe or America.

The LIGHT-SIX is the most evenly balanced car you can buy. Its light weight (only 2500 pounds) is so equally distributed that if the chassis were halved or quartered each section would weigh practically the same. This means tire economy, and steady road-holding at high speeds.

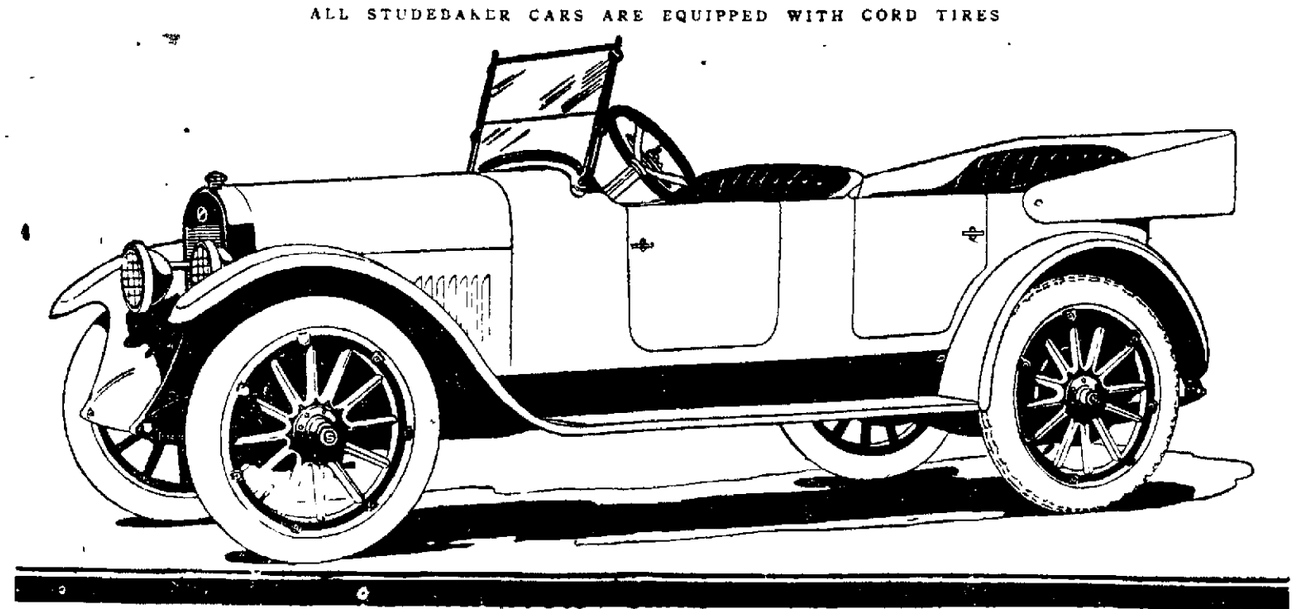

See this car—drive it—test it. You will be won by it. You will understand why it is the Studebaker ideal of what a light, six-cylinder car should be.

HAGAN STARTS OUT ON TRIP

To Speak Every Day Until Day Before Election

Mr. Hagan, after cleaning up business in his office for the last several days, spoke at Washburn last night, and tonight starts on a trip through the western part of the state.

Mr. Hagan declared his belief that the petitions filed for the recall did not contain more than 50,000 bona fide names. He said that it had been discovered that 21 out of 28 signatures from one township were duplicates. The immense task of checking up the duplications makes it impossible to say the number of them, but Mr. Hagan declared they were numerous.

His opponent, J. A. Kitchen, spoke at Oakes last night. Tomorrow he finishes a speaking tour in Dickey county, and then goes into LaMoure county.

SCHOOL AGE IS MANDATORY

Judge Holds That School Census Does Not Govern

Napoleon, N. D., Oct. 7.—A child becoming six years of age after the date of the last school census must be admitted to school, according to a decision just rendered by District Judge McKenna, in a mandamus action brought by J. R. Thompson of Napoleon, whose son became six years old in July, of this year.

The court's decision, it is stated, is based on a section of the law making mandatory upon the school board the admission to school of all children between the ages of six and 21.

The school board faces a difficult situation in view of the decision. About 15 children have also become six years of age since the school census. It is stated that there is no room in the school and the board is without funds to provide room. The board foreseeing the need for more school room, several months ago, called a bond election, and the bonds were voted down.

The school board contended it could only be held liable to the extent of the regular school census. It provided for those enumerated in the census.

FARM BUREAU TO PROBE INTO DAIRY INDUSTRY

First Hearing to be Held in St. Paul on Next Tuesday

St. Paul, Oct. 7 The first hearing in the American Farm Bureau federation's national investigation into the marketing of dairy products will be opened in St. Paul next Tuesday by James R. Howard, president of the federation.

The committee of eleven, appointed by Mr. Howard to find means of extending and improving the co-operative distribution of milk and other dairy products, will meet at headquarters of the farm bureau in the the old capitol, at 10 A. M. A public hearing will be conducted on the following day in the convention hall of the national dairy show at the state fair grounds.

The success of Minnesota co-operative marketing enterprises, which have attracted so much attention that the investigating committees selected this state for its opening hearings, will be explained by representatives of the Minnesota Co-Operative Creameries Association, Inc., and the Twin City Milk Producers association. H. B. Nickerson of Elk River, president of the creamery association and a member of the committee of eleven, will outline the movement to centralize the marketing activities of dairy farmers in Minnesota. More than 200 co-operative creameries have joined the state organization, Mr. Nickerson said today.

H. R. Leonard, manager of the Twin City Milk Producers' association, is to speak on the development of the Farmers' Co-operative marketing agency which, he says, supplies 80 per cent of the milk consumed in the Twin Cities.

"Co-operative marketing by the farmers," Mr. Leonard said today, "has demonstrated that it can give the farmer a better return for his product and at the same time give the consumer a moderate price. Government records show that the Twin Cities pay less for milk than all but one or two other cities, and that no city of equal size pays less than Minneapolis or St. Paul."

Mr. Howard also is scheduled to speak in the judging arena at the dairy show on October 12 at 2 P. M.

The first meeting of the Committee of Eleven in the offices of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation will bring together representatives of the foremost co-operative marketing enterprises in the American dairy industry, farm bureau officers said today. Members of the committee, besides Mr. Nickerson who represents Minnesota, are M. D. Campbell of Coldwater, Mich., president of the National Milk Producers federation; Fred H. Harvey, Sales, Ore., state commissioner in charge of the Oregon dairy and food department; Henry Krumrey, Plymouth, Wis., president of the Wisconsin Cheese federation; B. B. Heaton, Chicago, director of the American Farm Bureau federation dairy marketing department; C. Bechtelheimer, Waterloo, Iowa, president of the Iowa Creamery association; Harry Hartke, Erlanger, Kentucky; J. D. Miller, Susquehanna, Pa.; C. Larson, Chicago, director of dairy marketing for the Illinois Agricultural association, and Richard Pattee, Boston, manager of the New England Milk Producers association.

KEEP SCHOOLS OUT OF FIGHT

Miss Nielson's Attitude in Situation is Explained

The attitude of Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction, in the present campaign is one of "keeping the schools out of it," according to an editorial expression in the Fargo Forum, which apparently speaks ex-cathedra.

Miss Nielson now is out in the state attending institute meetings and has taken no part in the recall campaign. The Forum says she was elected on a platform of "keeping the schools out of politics," and continues:

"The attitude of Miss Nielson therefore, is all the more praiseworthy She is 'keeping the schools out of politics' even though she does not hesitate to express her own views clearly and decisively when occasion demands Using the school to fight the socialist administration is no more excusable than using them to defend it and entrench it in office."

TEN MILLION RUSS STARVING

London, Oct. 7.—Efforts to save 10,000,000 Russians from starvation will fail unless five million pounds sterling is raised before Christmas, declared Dr. Fridtiof Nansen, in an interview with the Daily Herald last night. Local Musicians Assist in Blanche Myer Concert Here

The Blanche Myers Concert will be given Thursday October 13th in the auditorium of the Presbyterian church Miss Myers will be assisted by two accomplished vocalists, Henry Halverson and Miss Clara Smith

Mr. Halverson is a standing favorite with any Bismarck audience. He will render a group of songs, prepared especially for this concert.

Miss Clara Smith, superintendent of music in the public schools, is a comparative stranger to most Bismarck people but those who have heard her sing speak most enthusiastically of both her musical ability and her stage appearance

The accompanist, Miss Grace J. Myers needs no introduction to Bismarck people. She had been a very successful music teacher here for eight years prior to the removal of the Myers family to LaMoure. The combination should insure a large attendance on Thursday.

Federation Meeting Closes with Pageant

The silver anniversary convention of the North Dakota Federation of Women' clubs closed last night with an historical pageant at the Agricultural college armory, following the choice of Devils Lake as the 1922 meeting place and the completion of election of officers at the business sessions.

Mrs. W. A. McIntyre of Grand Forks was named as treasurer; and Mmes. W. S. Lauder of Wahpeton and J. E. Rockwell of Fargo, as directors.

Resolutions passed yesterday morning by the convention indorsed disarmament; reaffirmed indorsement of bills for maternity, the independent citizenship of women and education; pledged support of National Education week., asked that the governor proclaim a state-wide child welfare week; indorsed the proposed survey of the mental hygiene commission; asked that musical instruments be withdrawn from the luxury class as regards taxation, demanded in textiles pure fabric and conservative styles; ask that each club make a definite study of ways to beautify the home surroundings.

Mrs. Sumner T McKnight of Minneapolis, national treasurer for the League of Women Voters, gave the chief address yesterday, on "Swords and Plowshares."

The greatest reason for universal peace is the fact that the civilian population is no longer free from war casualties, Mrs McKnight declared in urging disarmament. Mrs. McKnight was wife of a captain in the eighty eighth division during the war and she spoke with pictures of the horrors of war fresh in her mind from a recent tour of the French lines from Paris to Alsace

Miss Carolin Orvis, in charge of the bureau of information at the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, told of the help the extension department may be to club women.

Mrs. F. R Smyth of the city, chairman of the department of press and publicity gave the report of that department yesterday Miss Anna Tibbetts, Mrs. Lyman Cary and Mrs. James Paige of Minneapolis gave addresses at the afternoon session.

An automobile drive at 4 o'clock was followed by tea at the Florence Crittenton home. At 7 o'clock a banuet was served at Ceres hall.

The pageant, presented last evening at the Agricultural college armory, under the a[illegible] members of the Ex Club [illegible] most picturesquely the progress made by women of the state from the time of the Indian woman to the present period of organization and on to the ideal woman of the future

Music was furnished by the college concert orchestra under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam, and members of the music section of the Fine Arts club Miss Marie McCormick and Mrs. Marion Sutherland Page gave vocal solos The prolog, by Miss Abbie Simmons, was read by Miss Maud Hayes, who also read selections from North Dakota authors during the presentation of the tableaux. Miss Marjorie Lieberg had charge of the costumes. Miss Ruth Andrew of the dances.

Fargo members of the Ex club, including Mmes. H L Bolley, M. A. Baldwin, R. M. Pollock, M A Hildreth, J H Sheppard and C. F. Amidon, received informally following the pageant in compliment to the new president of the college, John Lee Coulter and Mrs Coulter, Dean and Mrs. E S. To Make Rich Red Blood take Organic Iron; not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Nuxated Iron is partially predigested and ready for almost immediate absorbtion and assimilation by the blood, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron filings.

Revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves and increase your strength and endurance

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results.

Beware of substitutes Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

DISSOLVING THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

Whatever the merits, demerits, propriety or expediency of the recall election into which the state is now plunged, Republicans and Democrats doubtless will rally to the defeat of the nonpartisan election law which is sponsored by the I. V. A. organization.

The Tribune is opposed to the entire schedule of laws proposed by the I. V. A., and upon each and every one of the program measures suggests that the voters affix an emphatic NO.

But the really vicious piece of legislation is the proposed law to dissolve all parties in the state, except in the selection of presidential electors, congressmen and United States senators.

Minnesota has a nonpartisan election law on her statute books which removes party labels from every office except state officials. Members to the state legislature and all but state officials are selected without party designation.

That law has broken down party unity. It has made the task hard to rally Republicans or Democrats to the support of great issues to which the parties may be committed. The presence of such a law made the fight of Governor Preus against Townleyism in Minnesota twice as difficult. If North Dakota is unwise enough to adopt such a fantastic election law as proposed by the I. V. A., it will rue the day that it delivered over to group bosses a most powerful club.

Senator McCumber has set forth the objections to this law in a manner that defies successful contradiction. Experience of other states is against such a law. Interviews by The Tribune of Minnesota officials and Twin City newspapermen reflect an unanimous opposition to such a law. Governor Preus of Minnesota has been outspoken in his opposition to the measure.

A leadership that proposes to dissolve the Republican party is not a safe one in this state's crisis. The people of the state should be on their guard against the passage of a measure that would legalize a mugwump party in North Dakota.

Setting the primaries ahead to March is a piece of political trickery that goes well with the entire intent of the law. Fairminded men, whatever their convictions upon the league program—(and The Tribune has changed not one iota in its opposition to state socialism whether sugar coated by I. V. A. or Nonpartisan League)—will not vote virtually to disfranchise thousands of farmers by fixing the primaries at a time when climatic conditions are far from ideal and 80 per cent of the population is busily engaged in preparing the soil for seeding.

The primary system was the entering wedge to destroy interest in party organization and political experience has shown that more inferior men are selected under the primary than were nominated under the convention scheme. The pendulum has swung almost to its limit in the primary direction and there are many evidences in other states, notable Minnesota, that party conventions will be restored.

Vote NO on the law to legalize a mugwump party.

WHO NEEDS A GUARDIAN?

This very remarkable advice from the Fargo Forum:

"Only two printing establishments in North Dakota are in a position to bid on state printing. If these two printing establishments, the Bismarck Tribune company and the Normanden Publishing company of Grand Forks, have not formed a working agreement as to prices they are so lacking in financial sense that they ought to equip themselves with guardians. They were the only two bidders on the publicity pamphlet job."

It is inconceivable that The Forum, that political monitor which thunders each day its call to pure politics and sound government, should suggest such an unholy thing as an alliance to rob the taxpayers—nay not suggest but even declare that unless The Tribune and the Normanden do get together to rob the public treasury both should "equip themselves with guardians."

The Tribune can hardlly take seriously such twaddle. It is a matter of record that the bid of The Bismarck Tribune company on the publicity pamphlet was $1,000 less than the bid offered by the Normanden.

For the last few years, The Tribune has sought to secure as much state printing as possible. It has secured the work in an honest bidding against the biggest plants in the state. On all contracts but the publicity pamphlet it was thrown into competition with the Fargo plants which until recently have had practically all the state printing.

The Tribune is trying to build an industry here for Bismarck, not Fargo. State printing done in Bismarck means a larger payroll for this city, more people employed and more money in circulation.

It is characteristic of the I. V. A. program and the scheme fathered by Fargo, that everything at Bismarck must be shut up completely, "salvaged" to use a favorite expression of the Forum, while in the Red River Valley more than a million or so is to be squandered in trying out Townley's program under I. V. A. auspices.

Bismarck citizens probably will awaken soon to the plot to reapportion political spoils in the interests of the Red River valley. But The Tribune is fighting to build up Bismarck and its institutions. It refuses to join in any movement that spells salvage at Bismarck but expansion at Grand Forks and Fargo at the expense of the Slope district.

The Forum's suggestion that unless the two printing plants get together and fleece the taxpayers they are lacking in financial sense, may convict The Tribune of a crime in the Forum's eyes. But The Tribune's record is clean. It welcomes a complete investigation of the letting of the publicity pamphlet contract. The difference in the bids is a sufficient reply to the Forum's slur which in company with the Grand Forks Herald can see nothing west of the James river.

The Tribune is fighting every day for Bismarck and the Missouri Slope. It hopes to secure for the best little city in the world the most favorable economic conditions, advantages that will attract industries to that end that Bismarck will achieve the destiny to which she is entitled because of her superb position.

Those men who are joining forces with interests hostile to Bismarck's commercial progress should explain to the voters of Burleigh county why it is salvage at Bismarck and expansion at Fargo and Grand Forks?

LINCOLN

Galesburg, Illinois, celebrates October 7, the 63rd anniversary of the debate that took place there between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas.

Lincoln at that time said of Douglas: "He is blowing out the moral lights around us, when he contends that whoever wants slaves has a right to hold them."

On that issue, in 1858, Abraham Lincoln lost the senatorship. But it gained him the presidency two years later. Right gets sidetracked at times, but it always wins out in the end.

FOOLISH

For $1 you can buy five times as much crude rubber as you could in 1913. Being a rubber farmer is a sad life these days.

In England, the great rubber kings are urging the owners of rubber plantations to cut their output in two, to boost prices and make profits.

That is an unsoud policy. Under-production in any industry would only further chloroform a world convalescing from the economic losses of war. The rubber market will right itself if given time. Artificial famine is a temporary stimulant but it leaves a hang-over.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

THE BEST POLICY, AFTER ALL

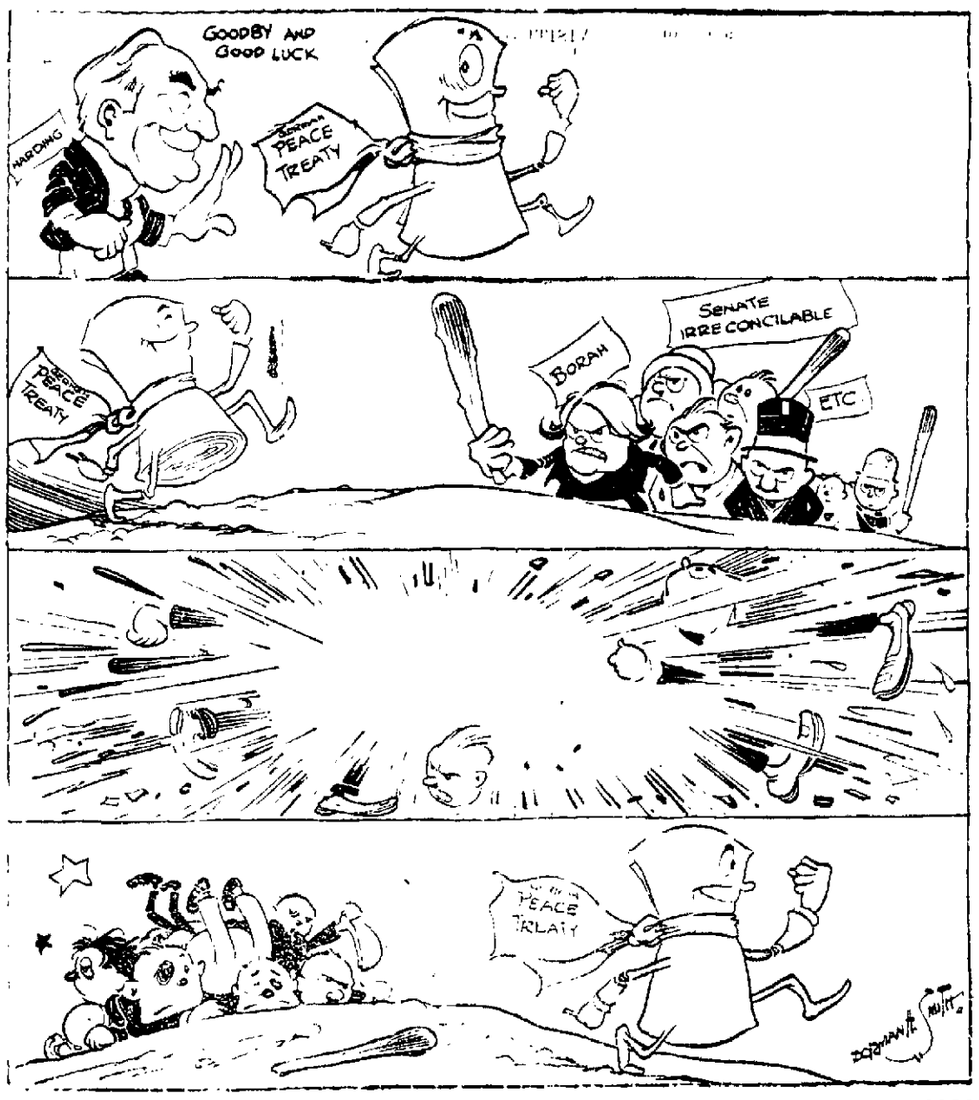

Cy Thomson was, by all accounts, an exceptional man. He had brains, organizing ability and initiative. He was energetic and constructive. As men go, he stood intelligently above the crowd. He was a big man. But he was a crooked big man, and today he begins to pay the pepalty that crooked men, big or little, eventually must pay. The trite lesson in his case, as in all similar cases, is that honesty is not only the best but the only possible policy if you want to get on in the world.

Thomson had his big chance—and he betrayed himself as well as his employer. He was not content with traveling the long, hard road to eminence, mile by mile. He wanted to make it in one leap. And to do it, he stole more than a million dollars from people who put their trust implicitly in him.

As a result, life for him is over. The splendor which attended his spectacular career ends in a narrow room, shut in by steel bars. While he may earn a commutation of his 15-year sentence by good beheavior he must expect to spend the best years which remain to him in prison. When he emerges, it will be as Cy Thomson. An elderly man, he will have to begin life anew—without his orignial prospects, without his friends, with out even the citizenship which belongs to the humblest of those who have chosen the other path through life. Entirely regardless of other considerations, failure is written at the end of what was an uncommonly promising life.

As between the man who takes a ten-dollar bill which doesn't belong to him, and the man who takes a million dollars which doesn't belong to him, the difference, morally, is only one of degree. The case of "Cy" Thomson is, therefore, important only because it lays a special emphasis upon the homely old truth that we cannot afford to tear up our moral code. One way or another, we must travel the rocky road of the transgressor if we do.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

RECALL CAULDRON

By The Pot Boiler

"What an awful web we weave when we practice to deceive," used to be the top liner in the school copy books and fourth grade readers. Sound philosophy packed away in a brief sentence. Those politicians who are weighing the destinies of the state in the hollow of their hands can park their brains before this motto to good effect and let the wisdom of it soak in.

All of which brings us to the Minot Daily News defense for accepting the compromise program of the I. V. A. It heads that apology with the old legend: "Half a loaf is better than no bread."

The Tribune is content to wait until the June primaries when under Republican banners, the house can be cleaned right and state socialism eliminated completely. An I. V. A. victory will do little to restore the credit of the state because it is socialism and contemplates gambling with the state's credit. It is merely the, "awful web we weave when we practice to deceive."

To those who advocate compromise with socialism and the trading of socialistic bosses for mere mental excitement, the Pot Boiler desires to recall the famous Bull Moose attack upon the Republican Party.

William Howard Taft was adamant against the vagaries of the progressives who stood for the recall of judicial decisions among other fantasies. In some respects the program framers of the Bull Moose party resembled the wild eyed platform makers of the I. V. A. and the misled visionaries of the Nonpartisan League who are hunting the rainbow.

There was an editor in Ohio by the name of Harding who refused to be stampeded by the "half of loaf" boys. He stood by his guns and upheld Republican principles and stood for sound representative government through party regularity.

Associated with him was one Daugherty, who directed the Taft campaign in Ohio. He was lonesome holding up the tent pole against the attack of the compromisers and those who had drifted from their political moorings to seek out false and unstable gods.

These three men went down in the Republican defeat. But today those principles for which they fought, and never deviated from, have triumphed.

Mr. Harding is in the White House. William Howard Taft is chief justice and Daugherty is a member of the cabinet. Call it poetic justice, or what you will, but there are worse things than defeat in politics.

These men triumphed ultimately because they stood for their political convictions. They refused to be stampeded into a mugwump organization and adopt every vagary propounded by long haired men and the short haired other type.

The time has arrived in the opinion of the Pot Boiler to cease compromising with state socialism and political vagaries. The Tribune is willing to wait its time. Political normalcy will return, but never through a program that smatters of the same doctrine as that of the Nonpartisan League. Swapping socialists is not progress.

The "Half a Loaf" editorial of the Minot Daily News follows:

"The Bismarck Tribune takes exception to a recent editorial in The Minot Daily News which criticized the Bismarck paper for its failure to demonstrate its sincerity in its declarations of uncompromising antisocialistic sentiments by taking the logical course of energetically supporting the recall ticket. In a letter to The News, George D. Mann, editor of the Tribune, says: 'We do take exception when you insinuate that the sentiments of The Tribune are dominated by what you call the McKenzie crowd.

"How The Tribune can reconcile its professions of abhorrence of all things socialistic with its failure to aid the forces that are battling socialism in the state—and the only forces which are doing so at present—does not appear. The Tribune appears to prefer no bread to the half loaf which it contends the recall campaign offers. It should be apparent to all that the sweeping away of the Nonpartisan league government means a vast improvement of conditions, will prevent any further dabbling in socialism or other unsound political and industrial heresies and will turn the state back toward sane progress and normal conditions. It gives the people the opportunity to express their will, and surely The Tribune does not wish to deny them that privilege especially in view of the very abnormal and distressing conditions which prevail.

"It is so extremly obvious that the recall is the only hope of immediate relief and that it represents the only active and practicable effort to rid North Dakota of its monstrous incubus that the attitude of The Tribune forces the calm observer to conclude that the Bismarck paper is merely playing a game of politics instead of doing its duty by getting into the fight and battling with the rest for the destruction of recognized evils and the speedy betterment of conditions.

"Talk of compromising opposition to socialism and all its work at such a time as this is all poppycock. It is the camouflage of the politician rather than the honest expression of a sincere, good citizen. The Tribune is no more consistent foe of socialism than The News, The Forum and The Grand Forks Herald. The Tribune's attitude is aiding, as far as its influence goes, the Nonpartisan league campaign. The surest proof of this is the manner in which the league press is taking up the cudgels in The Tribune's defense against independent criticisms.

"And with The Tribune recognized as a backdoor supporter of the league it is interesting to speculate upon the Bismarck paper's position in that not distant day when the league will be gone and its press will have passed into the limbo of discarded things. The Tribune will be as alone in North Dakota as Guy Faulkes, Benedict Arnold and the man who tried to invent a perpetual motion machine."

They said the same things of the men who refused to sign the Bull Moose Bill of Rights, but truth is mighty and will prevail. There is still a God in Israel.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Urchy Urchin did not have the Fairy Queen's pink pearl, hidden in his bushy coat. The Twins and Cap'n Pennywinkle searched him all over and there was no sign of it. So Urchy waddled away to a secret place under some rocks that he knew about to sulk.

"We'll ask all the oysters and clams next," said Nancy, brightly "I'm sure they'd tell us if they'd found it."

She and Nick were off at once and knocked at the door of each sleeping oysters as though the British were coming. But each one assured them politely that no pink pearl had come his way. One even remarked that to have a pearl, any one kind of a pearl, had been the height of his ambition all his life, but had he found one as large as the rainbow in it, the Twins should have it, because they had been so kind.

The Twins thanked him and skipped on, continuing their search. They climbed over rock beds and asked the barnacles, but landee, they didn't seem to know what a pearl was, even! And the sponges didn't know anything about it, either, the dummies! And the shrimps just walked off and waved their feelers. They had their minds on their own troubles as the shrimpnets had been put out and they had to watch their step. "And mind, you don't get caught in one of them!" warned one old fellow. "Badge or no badge, Magic Shoes, or none, you'll be in a nice pickle if you get caught, and that's not a joke, for it's the very thing they do to you, the shrimpfishers, pickle you and put you up in cans."

With this advice, he departed and the Twins started away, but to their dismay they found they couldn't move. A fine gray gauze thread was wrapped 'round and 'round and 'round them.

Dear Editor:

I want to take off my hat to you one the stand you are taking on this recall orgy. It is unthinkable that this I. V. A bunch—many of its star performers being renegade Nonpartisan Leaguers should capture the State Goevrnment. It's a wonder so many people fail to see how two-faced and inconsistent the I. V. A. program and many of their most prominnt leaders are. Here's hoping the recall will be defeated, so we can have an honest housecleaning next year.

Yours truly,

From one of your Cavalier Co. readers. W. L. S.

CRANE CALLS RUSSIA "SICK LADY OF WORLD"

BY CHARLES R CRANE

Washington, Oct 7—It is supposed to require four years of apprenticeship to make a good molder, machinist or carpenter, and one is usually not admitted into a trade without an experience of this kind

It, of course takes longer to make a good physician or even a good dentist or oculist, and one cannot practice without the requisite instruction and training

On the contrary it is often supposed not to be necessary to have any special training nor experience of successful management to engage in politics, and anyone can practice politics without a license or a diploma.

FEDERAL AID FOR HIGHWAYS

President Harding Insists That States and Communities Keep Roads in Repair

President Harding has touched upon ... which ... how ... development ... congress and that is the subject of federal participation in the building of good roads The government is committed to the policy of co-operating with the states in road construction and there is no disposition to depart from it but the President is emphatic in his insistence that the states and communities shall assume the responsibility of keeping their roads in repair which is only a sound ... proposition says Washington Post If the government is to pay out millions of the taxpayers money to help pay for the construction of roads only to see within a few years these highways deteriorate into disuse and decay that money is wasted

The value of good roads is now generally recognized and the larger and more progressive states have proved that they are good investments Improved highways mean not only ... and better food greater values in land better opportunities for the rural population. And they also pay good dividends in the huge sums collected in license fees for motor vehicles enough in most instances to pay the cost of repairs and improvements

The policy of the government co-operating with the states in the ... of road building has been a great incentive in the construction of ... highways and there is ... thousands of miles of roads have been built under this plan ... taken It should and doubtless will be continued but there should be an expressed guarantee that roads built under this cooperative plan are to be maintained and kept in good repair This preeminently is the duty of the state and not of the general government and it should be understood that no state will receive an appropriation from the federal government for road building except under the stipulation that it will make provision for upkeep

This is good policy and good business and President Harding is conserving the public interest in bringing it to the attention of the country States like Pennsylvania New York Ohio and Maryland which have expended millions of their own money on a system of improved highways willingly would give ... along this line and if any state is not ready to make such an agreement it should not participate in ... federal appropriation

Dietz has revised the coming system that has been in effect at Purdue for several years. He formerly was a Carlisle star and later assistant to Glenn Warner, coach at the Indian school.

While coaching at the University of Washington, Dietz for three years in a row turned out the Pacific Coast championship team.

MICHIGAN HAS BIG SCHEDULE FOR 1921 SEASON

Ann Arbor, Mich, Oct 7—Two schedules in one is the way football experts throughout the state are describing the series of Western Conference games faced by the University of Michigan this year. This view arises from the fact that the Maize and Blue meets Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, regarded as the most formidable of the conference teams. No other university in the Big Ten will clash with more than three of the stronger elevens.

Michigan's first conference game is scheduled for Oct. 22, when Ohio comes to Ann Arbor. A week later Yost will take his squad to Urbana for a game with Illinois. The Wolverine mentor now is preparing his charges for these games.

With the first two conference contests out of the way, Michigan will have but two weeks to prepare for the Wisconsin game at Madison Nov. 12. Only a week after the battle with the Badgers Michigan will meet Minnesota here.

That the two final games of the year will require as much effort to turn into victory as the first pair is admitted by followers of the Yost men. Members of the coaching staff are not under-estimating the power of the other conference teams Michigan must face and the forty five members of the Maize and Blue squad are being subjected to a pace not equalled since the championship days of ten and fifteen years ago.

The Maize and Blue will face its first real test of the year Oct 15 when it clashes here with the Michigan Aggies. The Aggies have a strong team and in past seasons have fought Yost's crew all the way. The real strength of the varsity is expected to be known at the end of this game.

labor groups from having any place on the ticket unless they at the very start gained first or second place in the primary. Whether we will or not party organizations are essential for the carrying out of policies in State and National matters of vast moment for conducting campaigns of education and for raising funds to meet legitimate expenses, both essential and desirable for enlightening the voters and getting matters before the people for their mature consideration in any great campaign or movement.

For Party Lines

Party lines should not be abolished in either State or National affairs and all organized parties should have a place on primary and final ticket. The recall in my opinion is both untimely and uncalled for, unnecessarily burdening the people with an annual election. It appears to be the work of a little group of disappointed office seekers who seem willing to wreck the state if need be to gain their selfish ends of reinstatement to power. The initiated measures are deceptively drawn and dishonestly placed before the voters, so devised by a cunning lawyer as to mislead the average person who is led to vote blindly to destroy much of the liberty thus far gained for the producers of the state including the marketing program and the grain grading law and to defeat the farmers in their effort to better economic conditions within the state or to help make available productive credit for the farmer now seriously handicapped and to retard the farmer from changing from one system of agriculture to a sound system of diversified or stable agriculture.

"To my way of thinking it would have been good statesmanship had the promoters of this recall scheme frankly provided in the initiated laws to openly and frankly have stated their issue to destroy the farmers industrial program, the Bank of North Dakota and given the voters an opportunity to have placed squarely before them the real issue rather than to have resorted to the subterfuge of endeavoring by slowly, and at great expense to accomplish the same end. At present it is hard to conceive that the candidates are more than friends of the farmers than are their masters who worked out the proposed destructive measures for the initiated laws. I cannot believe that the farmers and laborers will be deceived by such ill advised methods."

viewing my legislative record on election legislation.

In the general session of 1919 I introduced a somewhat similar measure (H. B. 15) providing for the selection of all county, district and state officers on a non-party basis. On a roll call vote it received the support of every Independent legislator voting on the question and of five men elected as leaguers namely Frederickson, Herbert Nathan of Logan, Nims and Olson of Barnes. Since then three of these five have left the Nonpartisan League. I am satisfied that a large majority of the legislative membership regardless of faction favored the bill but Mr Lemke and the other League dictators would not stand for it. To partially meet the wishes of the League legislators, however, the leadership permitted the passage of the bill in amended form introduced by Senator Mostad which placed the nomination and election of county officers on a nonpartisan basis.

Special Session

In the special session held in November and December that year I prepared another bill extending the provisions of the Mostad Law to legislators and state officers and introduced it jointly with Mr J. F. T. O'Connor. This bill was also defeated but received the vote of every Independent of the Leaguers who had voted for the former bill in the general session and also of five more Leaguers namely Eckert, Koller, Krueger, Kunkel and Donner. Several of these have also abandoned Townleyism.

Since that time no argument has been suggested to me of sufficient force to make me conclude that we were mistaken in our judgment. I still feel that national partisan politics have no concern with county, legislative and state issues. The election of our judges and superintendents of schools for years on a no party ballot has received the universal commendation of our people. The extension of the same principle to county officers as tried out in the last election was also generally approved. State issues are economic, not political in their nature. The duties of governor, secretary of state, attorney general or any other state officer have no more to do with national politics than the duties of a judge, the superintendent of public instruction or a county sheriff. So long as such officers are elected on a party basis the issues are apt to be confused and mixed with party issues. State issues are important enough to be determined on their own merits and not be regarded simply as a secondary matter. For these reasons I heartily endorse the proposed law extending the non-party ballot to legislative and state officers.

In your letter you intimate that one of the initiated laws would wipe party lines out completely in North Dakota. I cannot agree with you in that conclusion for party lines would still exist not only in the selection of Presidential electors and Delegates to National Conventions but also in the nomination and election of United States senators, representatives in congress and members of party committees down to precinct committeemen. Party organization would still remain intact but would have nothing to do with state or county issues.

Refrains from Comment

"I purposely refrain from commenting on the provision in one of the initiated laws which would fix the time of nominating United States senators and representatives in congress in March instead of in June for the reason that I being now a member of congress might be construed to be personally affected thereby. Whether the advantages to be gained by separating in point of time the discussion of state issues and national issues in so far as primaries are concerned outweigh the disadvantages of nominating senators and congressmen in March when congress is always in session and when weather conditions are generally unfavorable is a question on which each voter can readily form his own opinion and is perhaps of minor importance. It must be remembered however that such provision is separate and does not in any way affect the more important matter of nominating and electing state officers at the regular June and November elections on economic rather than partisan issues.

My views on the recall have already been made public so there is no need of reiterating them herein. I sincerely hope that you will use your influence in its favor and thus help to re-establish the credit of our state at the earliest possible moment."
